

Bachelor of Healthcare Management (BHCM)

Specialization in Health Services Administration

OVERVIEW

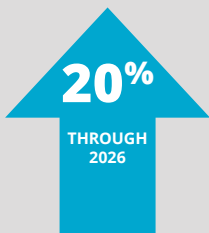

An aging baby-boom population, new medical technology and advances in medical treatment have contributed to an increasing demand for healthcare professionals who can coordinate, plan and direct rapidly changing health services. Dedicated healthcare programs are more recognized by employers in the healthcare field, and AIU's Bachelor of Healthcare Management (BHCM) degree is ideal for those interested in healthcare organizations. The specialization in Health Services Administration Management prepares students for administrative roles in organizations such as hospitals, medical offices, insurance companies and extended-care providers.

COURSEWORK

CURRICULUM INCLUDES

In this specialized curriculum, students can gain a comprehensive core of knowledge about the U.S. healthcare system, including its structure, operations, regulations and management, with a focus on administrative roles in healthcare services. The BHCM provides students with an opportunity to study healthcare directly across many disciplines in order to prepare students for a career in healthcare management.

HEALTHCARE CONTINUES TO BE A GROWING INDUSTRY IN THE UNITED STATES¹

Jobs for healthcare managers are expected to grow over 20% through 2026¹—more than 72,000 jobs, according to the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Factors driving demand for healthcare managers include:

- Population growth
- The retirement of the baby-boom generation
- Advances in medical technology

OUTCOMES
