AIU® offers a professionally-focused MBA program with a specialization in Healthcare Management designed for students interested in an opportunity to learn how various business functions are integrated into healthcare, including systems that consider valid assumptions of human behavior, inter-organizational perspectives, medical needs, education, communication and resources.

CURRICULUM INCLUDES

In this specialized curriculum, students can learn an in-depth view of healthcare administration, systems, policies and strategies by examining the concepts and skills necessary in positions of leadership in today’s complex healthcare industry. They could also have an opportunity to study the important role political factors play in the development of health policy, how administrative agencies translate legislation into statutory law and the role played by the media in shaping public opinion on health policy issues.

Specialization courses are structured to assist students in the development of their goals as they can learn advanced knowledge and skills common in healthcare management. For example:

- In Healthcare Leadership and Management, students can explore principles, practices and concepts in leadership and management. Topics addressed are organizational design and change, communications channels, internal and external departmental interaction, strategic planning, team building, conflict resolution, diversity in the workplace, operational budgets, and ethics as they relate to the healthcare environment.

- In Legal and Ethical Implications in Healthcare, students can gain insight into federal, state and local policies, and the ethics that guide us in healthcare management. Discussions include administrative policies and procedures that reinforce patient confidentiality, security of records/data, and equality of treatment, as well as issues related to the potential for variance in Medicaid and Medicare, and private insurance treatment.

- In Healthcare Administration, students can gain an overview of the healthcare delivery system in the United States. Topics can include composition, function and interrelationships of organizations and professional groups within the system.

- In Healthcare Strategies, students can focus on the planning and strategic development of healthcare organizations. Topics include needs assessment, demands analysis, generation of alternative, priority setting and evaluation.
