Today’s increasingly complicated business environment demand existing and future professionals to have a comprehensive knowledge of the economic climate in the modern workforce.

AIU® offers a professionally-focused MBA program with a specialization in Management designed for students interested in developing the managerial skills and professional competencies needed to compete in today’s increasingly global markets.

CURRICULUM INCLUDES

In this specialized curriculum, students can be challenged to explore a variety of issues such as employment, international trade and investment, licensing property, commercial transactions, and conflict-resolution strategies. The curriculum has been designed for students to immerse themselves in topics like the legal aspects of business decisions, leadership and ethics, economics, quality management, and continuous improvement.

Specialization courses are structured to assist students in the development of their goals as they can learn advanced knowledge and skills common to management professionals in today’s complicated business environment. For example:

- In Economics for the Global Manager, students can be expected to apply the theory and tools of micro- and macroeconomics and research to the formation of business decisions in the global environment.

- In Leadership & Ethics for Managers, students can explore interactions between leaders, followers and situations. The course involves the consideration of opportunities and ethical challenges of leadership.

- In Legal Aspects of Business Decisions, students can analyze current legal issues facing corporations operating in the global economy, including employment, international trade and investment, licensing property, commercial transactions, and conflict-resolution strategies.

- In Quality Management and Continuous Improvement, students can explore the philosophy and tools for quality management and continuous improvement of products and processes. Using data collection and problem-solving techniques, students can examine the design of quality practices.
