Bachelor of Business Administration (BBA)

Specialization in Fashion Marketing

AIU® offers an industry-relevant BBA program with a specialization in Fashion Marketing that is designed to provide students with a solid background in business fundamentals, along with real-world knowledge and skills relevant to the structure and operation of the fashion and retail industries.

Curriculum Includes
This targeted degree program is designed to provide students both a comprehensive understanding of business with an emphasis on retail fashion marketing, trends, media and technology. Courses are structured to help students work to develop specialized skill sets and knowledge common to the fashion industry. For example:

Fashion Branding: students can examine contemporary fashion brands and their strategies to create personality, generate appeal, and attract potential consumers. Topics also include the creation of identity, revitalization, and extension strategies. Students can also explore the implications of changing environments for fashion consumers and brands.

Fashion Buying: students can study buying practices and techniques, and examine consumer buying power, major market resources, governmental regulations and merchandise analysis. Students have the opportunity to simulate a merchandise plan that includes trend forecasting, vendor negotiation, and profitability analysis.

CAD for Fashion Marketing: students can work to build skills in creative software used to enhance fashion presentations, and have the opportunity to design a collection.
